

[variable] = [expression];

blocking & Non-blocking 都只能用于 always block 中

In a blocking assignment, the expression is evaluated and then assigned to the variable immediately, before execution of the next statement (the assignment thus "blocks" the execution of other statements). It behaves like the normal variable assignment in C.

Rule: Use blocking assignment for a combinational circuit